

Andy Vering, ASA

Andy Vering, ASA, serves as Director of Appraisal Services for Taylor and Martin, LLC, where he has spent the past 15 years building expertise in commercial transportation equipment valuation and market analysis. As Director for the past seven years and a member of the company's management team, he oversees appraisal operations, strategic initiatives, and the development of appraisal professionals while providing valuation guidance for financial institutions, fleet owners, dealers, insurers, and equipment investors across North America.

Raised in Fremont, Nebraska, Andy developed a strong work ethic on his family's cattle and crop farm before joining Taylor and Martin. Throughout his career, he has held positions in operations, sales, and executive leadership, giving him a well-rounded understanding of the commercial truck industry and the challenges facing businesses throughout the equipment life cycle.

An Accredited Senior Appraiser (ASA), Andy specializes in the valuation of commercial transportation equipment and has extensive experience supporting lending, acquisition, insurance, financial reporting, and litigation-related appraisal assignments. His ongoing analysis of used truck market trends and equipment values has made him a trusted resource for clients navigating changing market conditions.

Andy currently serves as President of his local American Society of Appraisers chapter, where he is committed to advancing professional standards and developing future appraisal leaders. He is also an active member of the Used Truck Association (UTA), where he values the collaboration, industry relationships, and exchange of ideas that help strengthen the commercial truck marketplace.

Outside of work, Andy enjoys spending time with his wife, Jenny, and their two sons, Rhett and Boone. Whether it's on the golf course, in a fishing boat, in the field hunting, or attending his boys' sporting events and family activities, he values the time spent outdoors and with family.

Andy would be honored to serve on the UTA Board of Directors, bringing a practical, data-driven perspective, a collaborative leadership style, and a commitment to supporting the association's mission and its members.
