Ian Sifuentes

While I am currently serving as the Chief Financial Officer and Vice President of East Coast Operations of Mission Financial Services, my career with the company started back to 1997 during a high school internship. Over the next couple of years after my high school graduation, I attended school at Fullerton College and worked at Mission Financial on a part-time basis. Between 2001 and 2003 I took a leave from Mission to continue my education at the University of California: Santa Barbara, earning a degree in Economics with an emphasis in accounting. At the end of 2003, I came back to Mission as a full-time employee after the completion of my schooling at UCSB as a financial analysis and secondary accountant. As needs arose during my tenure at Mission Financial, I found that my duties for the company were expanded to commercial underwriting, oversight of the accounting/financial reporting and office management. In the beginning of 2006, I was promoted to the Southeastern Regional Vice President and moved to Atlanta, Georgia and later promoted to the Vice President of East Coast Operations 2011. Further advancement was offered to me in 2015 as the Chief Financial Office. I currently perform these duties while also maintaining oversight of the East Coast Operations.

Outside of time devoted to ensuring that Mission remains the premier secondary financial institution to the trucking industry, I am a dedicated to the Used Truck Association providing support for the New Members, Marketing and Young Members groups. Additionally, I have been presenter at the Annual Convention as a panel speaker regarding finance opportunities for members several time and I have hosted panels for Warranty, Auctions and Legal Uses of DocuSign throughout my 15 years as a member of the UTA.
